J. W. HAMILTON.

Ollie Naylor, age 28, committed suicide at Preachersville Sunday by cutting his throat with a razor.

If you have packages to send to Danville, or want one brought from there, see Jas Hatcher, the stage man. It will be attended to all right.

Good prospects for a hotel and tobacco warehouse. Just a little more help needed. Will you do your part? If so, speak out and say how much you are in.

Central Tobacco Ware House first sale after holidays 1907 sold for Mr B F Kelly, of Garrard, his crop of tobacco 6 bbls 22.50, 18 78, 18 50, 13.75, 13.50, and 10.50 total average $16 28.

Good Resolutions. Get out those good resolutions you made last January and brush them up a little. None of them were kept and they are just as good as new ones.

Mr Albert McHale and Miss Helen Conn, two prominent young people, were married Sunday by Rev Mr Williams, pastor of the Methodist church. A number of friends were present and the wedding a very pretty one.

Back in Post Office. The patrons of the Lancaster post office are very glad, indeed to see the smiling countenance of "Billie" West in the office. He is one of the best clerks the Lancaster office ever had, polite, careful and pains-taking.

Good Service to Danville. Jas Hatcher, proprietor of the Danville stage line, is prepared to carry passengers in the best and most comfortable manner. A good wagon, fast horses, plenty of rugs and good foot warmers make the trip one of pleasure. Ride with him and go in comfort.

Will Get Rebates. When the expenses of the late State Democratic primary were paid there was $3,500 left in the treasury. This was rebated to the different candidates each of whom received from $75 for the minor offices where two ran, up to $250 for the larger places, where there was only one candidate.

A Correction. In our write up of the Garrard Bank and Trust Co., in last issue of The Record, we spoke of Mr D A Thomas as teller, when it should have been assistant cashier. Mr Thomas is a gentleman of wide experience in the banking business, and was selected from a number of fine applications for the place. The new institution did well to secure his services.

Two Kinds of Kickers. The kickers on the farm are not so hard to get along with as the kickers in town. On the farm there is the kicking cow and our long-eared friend, the mule, while in town there is the old mossback who wants all the municipal improvements without paying for them. The cow may be sold for beef, the mule traded for a shotgun, but nothing but a funeral will get rid of the town kicker.

Dissolution. The firm of West & Herndon has been dissolved, Mr W B West retiring. Mr Lewis Herndon will continue the business at the old stand, and will handle only high grade pianos, organs, sewing machines and graphophones. He will have complete stock of sheet music, and graphophone records, all at lowest prices. If you are thinking of buying anything in his line, let him know and make your prices on same.

Officers Garrard Bank & Trust Co.

The legions of friends of Mayor Clarence E Woods, of Richmond, are delighted to know that he was elected Grand Recorder of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, one of the largest bodies of the kind in the United States. He was also given a raise in salary. He is editor of the Delta, the paper of the order, which furnishes opportunity to put in practice his splendid talent for writing. Mr Woods is a gentleman in everything the word implies, and has a heart as big as a feed basket. The newspaper boys love him, and are overjoyed at the honor shown him.

Kentucky Corn Bread.

Land of the luscious, indescribable and ever conquering corn bread, Kentucky, we hail thee! Other States have their own bread, but no corn bread on earth ever reaches the right spot in the hungry man's maw like that of old Kentucky. Corn bread is the Kentucky house wife's monument. See the genuine corn bread anywhere or even the imitation, and the mind must instinctively go back to old Kentucky, with all its treasures and traditions of corn bread making. This verily is "a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyard." See the Kentucky household gathered about hospitable tables to realize the truth of Victor Hugo: "Oh, the love of a mother-love no one forgets; miraculous bread which God distributes and multiplies; bread always spread by the paternal hearth, where each has his portion, and all have it entire."—Ex.

For a Noble Cause.

Mrs J B Willis, of Crab Orchard, was here Saturday to see some of the leading Christian people of the town in regard to giving a concert in Lancaster for the purpose of raising funds to pay for the Christian church just erected at Crab Orchard. It will be remembered that this church was blown down by a cyclone sometime ago, and the congregation, which is small in numbers has been working hard to raise funds to rebuild. A neat little structure has been built, but they are having a hard fight to get it paid for. It was decided to secure the services of Mrs Anna E Bentz, and Mrs Nellie DeMarque Gibbs, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music to give a concert and reading at several neighboring towns. It was agreed Saturday to have this entertainment in Lancaster Friday night, the 18th. Now here is a chance for the people to show their desire to help along something for the cause of Christ, and at the same time enjoy a splendid entertainment. See the program in this issue, and when you are asked to buy a ticket, do so with cheerfulness.

THE TIME IS RIPE.

Everybody Wants a New Hotel. Now is Time for Citizens to Get Together and Do Something.

What helps a town more than a large, roomy, up-to-date hotel? If anyone will give a satisfactory answer, he may go to the head of the class. Seldom does a day pass that we don't hear the question asked, "Why don't you people show some spirit of enterprise, wake up, unloose your purse strings and build a hotel on that vacant lot?" This has been talked of so long, that we rejoice in saying that there is a move on to build, and if the moneyed people will only get together, they can formulate a plan whereby a hotel can be built at a very reasonable price, the investment will bring them good return and the cash will be amply secure too.

Some of our more public spirited men, men of means, have been talking about the matter, and we are satisfied that if several others will shake the moss off their backs and come out for progress, work can be commenced in the spring on a house of which any town may feel proud. This can be done in only one way, mind you, and that is by people who are able to do so coming to the front and showing to the world that they love their town and are not too tight-skinned to invest a little cash to help make their town one of beauty and comfort. We never ride on a local train that we do not hear traveling men knocking on Lancaster. Now, why?

A number of local people have been talking over the matter, and find that a house can be erected, with plenty of room, be substantially made, of the most modern design and not cost an unreasonable figure. The only thing necessary is for a few more men of means to come to the front and the building is assured. If you are interested in this all important matter, talk about it, consult with your neighbor and you will soon see the proper interest aroused and the matter pushed to a successful end. We do not believe there is a business man in Lancaster who is not in favor of this but if every fellow sits around and waits for someone else to do the pushing, there will be nothing doing.

Protracted Meeting

A protracted meeting will begin at the Methodist church next Monday night, at seven o'clock. The meeting will be conducted by Rev F M Hill, Conference Evangelist. Mr Hill is well known to our people, he having had charge of the local church for some time. He has many warm friends in Lancaster, who will be glad of the opportunity of hearing him again.

Worthy Man Honored.

The legions of friends of Mayor Clarence E Woods, of Richmond, are delighted to know that he was elected Grand Recorder of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, one of the largest bodies of the kind in the United States. Ben F Potts, the well known miller and machinist, died at the home of his son, on Richmond street, Wednesday, and will be buried at Buckeye this afternoon, Thursday.

Week of Prayer.

The week of prayer has been greatly enjoyed, and will result in much good. The ministers have conducted the services, one of them preaching a sermon at each meeting. Friday evening services will be conducted in the Presbyterian church, Saturday at the Methodist and Sunday evening in the Christian church, closing the meetings. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

A Delightful Occasion.

The copy of our write up of the dance given New Year's eve., was misplaced and we did not know it was gone until too late to set for last issue. The occasion was the most delightful of the season, a prettier bunch of girls were never together and Saxton & Trost's band never made better music. Those who know what they are talking about said the music was the best ever furnished in Lancaster.

Banks Elect Officers.

Tuesday was annual election day for the banks in Lancaster and the following directors were chosen:

At the National Bank the same directors were re-elected. They are John E. Stormes, S. C. Denny, A. R. Denny, S. D. Cochran and A. C. Robinson. The Citizens National Bank also re-elected their same directors. They are L. Y. Leavelle, J. J. Walker, T. M. Arnold, J. S. Johnson and B. F. Hudson.

The Garrard Bank & Trust Co., elected the following:

H K Herndon, H T Logan, Banks Hudson, J B Sanders, J R Haselden, R L Elkin, V A Lear, J M Dunn, R L Burton, W L Lawson, T J Pierce, L K Perkins, W R Cook, E L Woods, W G Gooch, J C Hemphill, H V Bastin, T C Rankin, R I Burton.

Anderson.

The death of Mrs Susan Anderson, which occurred Sunday afternoon, cast a deep gloom over the entire community, as no lady ever resided in Lancaster who was more universally beloved and respected. She was in her eighty-fourth year, but was blessed with good health until within the last few months, when she was forced to remain indoors, her extreme age causing weakness which prevented her walking about very much. Mrs Anderson, affectionately called "Aunt Susan" by her legion of friends, was a member of the Christian church, and a more devoted or conscientious member could not be found. She was never so happy as when doing some kindness, and her deeds will live many years hence. She was well posted on the history of her native town and county, and her memory of dates and names was remarkable, indeed. Funeral services were conducted at the residence, on Lexington street, Tuesday afternoon, Eld F M Tindler officiating, the interment following at the Lancaster Cemetery. The family have the deepest sympathy in their great bereavement. While their grief is great, it certainly is a great consolation to them to know that the sweet, pure life just ended won for her a rich reward in the Great Beyond, where all trouble and sickness are unknown.

Col. B. F. Robinson.

After a lingering illness, Col B F Robinson died at the home of his son, Mr C A Robinson, on the Lexington pike, Saturday. As stated in a recent issue of The Record, he had been in declining health for some years, his active life and increasing age having commenced to show on him some time before he gave up business. Garrard county never had a more prominent and more popular citizen than was Col Robinson. In early life he entered the stock business, trading principally in cattle and hogs. He was an expert buyer, and made more money than any man in the county. For many years he took an active part in politics. He was a democrat of the old-line type, and his counsel and work was of untold benefit to his party. He was eighty-five years of age, and leaves four sons, Messrs Thomas B., Morton, George B. and Curt A., and three daughters, Messdames Henry and Dave Dunn, and Mrs Wm Baughman of Danville. Two of his sons, T B and C A have served as sheriff of Garrard county.

Col Robinson came of a very large family, one who was known far and wide for big-heartedness, kindness, and above all other traits—the fact that they never deserted a friend. Col Robinson's determination and success at living up to these noble traits are too well known to the people of Lancaster to need stating by this paper. He will be greatly missed, not only by the family, but by the business men of Garrard county. The funeral was conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon, Eld F M Tindler officiating, the burial taking place at the Lancaster Cemetery.

Stolen.

A horse stolen from my place on Crab Orchard pike about one mile from Lancaster, on Monday night January 7th, 1907, a bay horse about fifteen hands high, two white hind feet, a small star in his forehead. Any man that returns the horse will receive a liberal reward. Frank Todd,

THINK THIS OVER.

An Opportunity to Help the Farmers. Build Up Lancaster and at Same Time Make Good Investment.

This week, several prominent business men were discussing the plan of establishing a tobacco warehouse in Lancaster, one large enough and well enough equipped to handle the vast amount of the weed grown in this section. The Record made an investigation and finds that Garrard county produces annually no less than three millions pounds of tobacco. At the prevailing prices, this will bring no less than eight cents a pound to the producer. With only one warehouse in Lancaster, at least one-third of this crop could be marketed here. This would bring thousands of dollars here which would pass through the Lancaster banks and most of it remain on deposit with Lancaster merchants.

At present, with the exception of the large warehouse at Paint Lick, there are no facilities in Garrard county for handling the large crop, and buyers outside the county and the city buyers get it all. A farmer, or most of them, wants his money when a crop is ready for market. Now, say there was an institution in Lancaster perfectly able to buy this crop (of tobacco or anything else) and the farmer could haul in his stuff, get his money and not be told, "Well, you'll have to wait until I am prepared to accept your crop." Now, why can not some of the idle money in Lancaster and Garrard county be put to this use? In addition to being an inestimable benefit to the people, it will bring a greater rate of interest than most any investment to be found—that is safe, honorable investments.

The Record suggests that the business men of the town and county think this matter over, talk it among themselves, then let some hustlers get together and formulate the plan. Now is the time to take it up and push it to a successful end. If you have money, invest it where it will bring you good interest, but while you are doing so, lend a little help to your town and county, thus enhancing the value of the property you have.

The Womans Home Missionary Society will meet at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. All members, and all ladies interested in the work are urged to be present.

A Painter.

"You can fix up a town too much for its own good. The more you improve it the more people are going to come there to live." The man who made the foregoing statement spoke the truth in mighty chunks, says the Millersburg Farmer.

When a stranger visits a town, whether he contemplates a change of residence or not, he always uses his eyes. If he sees the streets in good conditions, fine residences, good business houses, nice shady streets and well kept lawns, he naturally concludes that business conditions in the town are good and that its citizens are prosperous and enterprising. If he is looking for a location he will want to move into that town, and if he is not he will mention the place to some of his friends who are, and will speak a good word for it. It takes but little extra work to keep up the town, and that little work is a powerful factor in building up a city.

Say, Man,

When you begin to think that you are the only real thing that ever happened, just cut this out and paste it in your hat: Man is a funny cuss and hasn't long to stay, he flies around and makes a fuss and then hies away. Some men imagine they are great and try to tear up jack, but each one meets the same old fate, trots the same old track. Great Caesar is dead and turned to clay, so is Cicero and Alexander's gone the way the rest of us must go. The sages, heroes, poets, all the men of wealth and worth, into an open grave must fall and crumble back to earth.

Human Nature Fragile.

Another year has nearly passed to join the endless train of Time. During this time we have all had our little hopes, sorrows, failures and successes. Few have done their best, either towards themselves or others to whom they owe duties, says the Harrodsburg Herald. But after all a man's worth and quality of character are determined not so much by his failures as his ability to rise superior to them and get up full of fight after every fall. It is this quality of resiliency that counts. Human nature is fragile at a thousand points, and man lives fighting fearful odds all the time. There is not one, not even the best, who does not need a sympathetic assistance of his fellowman. If you will retrospect just a bit it will be apparent to you that there were many times during the past year when you could have helped some one over a rough place and did not. It is perhaps also true that the fates seemed to have all turned against you, and a cheery optimistic encouragement from some one would have helped greatly, but you did not get it.

The ought to be more women physicians than there are. A number of women in various states have studied medicine, and where they have the physique to stand the hardships of a doctor's life, they have succeeded well in that profession. Most women take to teaching, for which they are admirable adapted, but the teacher's profession is getting full to overflowing, and the wonder is that more women do not enter the medical ranks. Aside from surgery women physicians would seem to be well adapted to medicine.

IN MEMORIAM.

Died on the 5th of January '07 at the home of his youngest son Mr Ben Robinson in the eighty fourth year of his age. After a long useful life, "Uncle Ben Robinson" as he was affectionately called by his many friends, has gone, to join the innumerable throng that have crossed over the river. A loving husband, a kind indulgent father, a good neighbor. In his home, not only his friends found a warm welcome, but the way faring man and many of the old soldiers, all over this land of ours, both north and south that have been warmed, and fed under his hospitable roof. It was my good fortune to spend much of my time when young, in this home, and the loving kindness shown me, and many others will ever be remembered, and cherished by me. To the dear loving children, to those who have carried for him so tenderly we would commend these words of our Savior: "Then shall the King say, I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat, I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink, a stranger, and ye took me in, naked, and ye clothed me, I was sick, and ye visited me, I was in prison, and ye came unto me." Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these my brethren, even these least ye did it unto me."

THE CHRISTIAN WORLD.

A HINDU VIEW OF INDIA'S CRY.

Declares That His Countrymen Are Hungry for Christianity.

One who signs himself "A Hindu," in a long letter to a Calcutta native newspaper, writes:

The Bengalis have raised a general cry to obtain something by means of what they call the Swadeshi movement, and it is not to be denied that all educated India is echoing behind them. But if we truly try to get an inner sight of the state of things with them, we must ask ourselves, "What are these men crying for?" My answer is that they are crying for Christianity. My countrymen will probably laugh at this idea, but no amount of laughing can alter the rapid progress of the world, and truth cannot be concealed any longer. It must be admitted that young India has already been Christianized in many senses, and especially for the rights, urging upon the government to vest them with powers which have developed on Christians only since the commencement of the Christian era in India. Young India is growing more and more Christian and progressing rapidly towards complete Christianity. Although unknown, but, speaking frankly, there are yet many Christian elements wanting in them, and their obtaining Christian rights and privileges depends upon the completeness of those elements in Indian life. The teachings of Jesus Christ, who was an Asiatic Himself, not only prescribed attending churches, preaching, and prayers, but courage, self help, civilization, power and similar virtues, which Christians have acquired by no other source than by their faith. It is only the want of moral courage to cut off the deep-rooted social customs of many centuries that keeps the educated Hindu under the law of Hinduism. Christianity may be false and Hinduism may be true, but India is rapidly moving on to the path of Christianity, and no human power can resist fate.

To be genuine is a long step towards being godly.

BRAHMANNS COMING TO CHRIST.

One Disturber of Mission Meetings at Last Converted.

On the Indian frontier an Afghan mullah has been led to Christ by an Afghan Christian farmer, and was baptized on Christmas day. A yellow-robed and long-bearded Hindu devotee, who used to distract the worship of the little congregation in the heathen town of Thanevelly by his noisy drumming outside, and had to be "moved on" by the police, was baptized in December in that very church. Another baptism of a Brahman student in Noble college is reported, accompanied by the same distressing opposition and hostile devices that marked the early baptisms 50 years ago and often since, but not so painful, as in former days, by the emptying of the college, for Christian ex-brahmans are not now uncommon, and when an Indian church council in 1905 appoints as pastor of the Lucknow Christian congregation an ex-Brahman clergyman who first learned of Christ in the Lucknow C. M. S. high school, few realize the immense significance of the act.

Good wishes often grow up before they come home again.

A Children's Church. Rev. Harry A. King, pastor of the Oakley Methodist Episcopal church, Kansas City, Mo., has originated the plan of organizing a children's church, with children constituting the official boards, a child organizer, with children as elders, deacons, ushers, and, of course, only children for the congregation. The services will probably be held Sunday afternoons, but they are in no way to supplant the Sunday school. Mr. King says he believes that a child should be a Christian in a child's way, and should be taught, when old enough to understand the policy and the rules of the church.

You can not lift up the people on whom you look down.

Students Wanted Gospel. A prominent pastor was asked to preach to the students of an eastern university. Before the service he met some of the students, and asked them what kind of preaching they wanted. They were quick to express themselves frankly. "Cut out all slang," said one. "Make no allusion to football," said another. "Give us no illustrations from recent science," said a third; and a fourth said: "Stick to your job and preach the Gospel, and that will suit us."

It's a common sin to substitute scruples about our own eating for the feeding of the hungry.

Religious Life of Filipinos. The annual report of the American Bible society gives encouraging indications relative to the religious life of the Filipinos. The school enrollment has doubled, now being 500,000. The committee in its report declares that in another year men and women will be asking for the Bible and desiring to know the way of life more perfectly.

Has Nineteen Deaconesses. The Methodist Episcopal church, south, has now 19 deaconesses.

Farmers over in Indiana are going to put a stop to all hunting expeditions, except by themselves. They characterize the city sportsmen as "unmitigated nuisances," and they want a law passed which will declare it unlawful for any one, excepting a farmer, to kill quail or other game. They also want the right to shoot and kill game at any time during the year, and to dispose of it by gift or sale.

Sheep are now in greater demand for mutton than in many years, therefore the Southern farmers should prepare to shelter and keep their flocks in the best physical condition for the winter market. There is profit in sheep growing. The complaint is the dog in the way, but if a dozen sheep owners will employ the shotgun and stand to each other, the dog fear will be removed. There are few farmers who could not profitably keep a few sheep. The difficulties that stand in the way can be overcome. Surely no one will admit they are too dull to learn how to raise them. A sheep tight fence can easily be bought or constructed.

Silas B Lane, of Montgomery county, sold his 1906 crop of tobacco at 14 cents straight to J W Foster for the American Tobacco Company. The crop will weigh out about 19,000 pounds and was one of the best ever raised in the county. The prices obtained tops the market and is the best figure secured in ten years.

Chas Stephenson, Clintontville, Ky. Says: I cured my chickens of cholera with Bourbon Poultry Cure and cannot speak too highly of it as an invaluable remedy for fowls. Sold and guaranteed by Mount & Elkin.

A National law recently enacted classifies adulterated, all butter that contains 16 per cent or more of moisture. The law will be enforced by agents of the general government sent out under the direction of the department of agriculture. Recently agents were out and took samples of creamery and country butter which is claimed within the law. The foreign substance in the butter is a moisture known as buttermilk. The agents state that there is but little butter sold by farmers that has less than 13 per cent of this moisture in it. Should the law be strictly enforced as proposed it will work a revolution of the butter trade.

The third week in September has been chosen by the directors of the Kentucky State Fair as the time for the 1907 exhibition. The fair cleared $10,000 last year.

W L Graddy, of Versailles, sold 60 head of two year-old half bred Hereford steers at Chicago during the International Show at $5.70. They average 1,150 pounds.

California has produced fifty one 2:10 trotters, nearly one-fifth of all the 2:10 trotters ever bred. The fastest are Lou Dillon, 1:58; Sweet Marie, 2:02; John A McKerron, 2:04; and Azote, 2:04.

Nicholsville Journal.—The public sale of C G Taylor on the Union Mills pike, Thursday, Dec 27, drew a large crowd, notwithstanding the disagreeable weather. The bidding was unusually good. Eight head of horses brought from $117 to $300; five mules, $125 to $150; yearling mule, $118, weanling mule $104; sixteenths head of hogs $6 to $7 per cwt; one hundred and twenty-five head; two old cows, $27.50, $33; corn, $2.40 per barrel; chickens, $3 to $3.10 per dozen; farm implements, household and kitchen furniture sold well.

The Grip. "Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by R E McRoberts, the reliable druggist, at Lancaster.

Seeing the Southwest EXCURSIONS.

Doubtless you have heard of the bumper crops which have been raised this year in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, and New Mexico. Have you compared them with results obtained in your section? Is your work where you are, bringing you adequate returns for the capital invested and the labor expended? If not, a change would be beneficial perhaps. A visit to the Southwest will open your eyes. Out in Oklahoma the last big land opening is soon to take place; farms are still very cheap in Western Arkansas, Northern Louisiana and the Gulf Coast or Texas. Let us give you full information about these sections. You will want to see them after you have examined our illustrated literature.

Very low rates, one way and round trip to Southwestern points the First and Third Tuesdays of each month.

A Toast to Laughter.

Here's to laughter! The sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the head on the cup of pleasure, it dispels dejection, banishes blues and mangles melancholy, for its the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is what kings envy peasant's, the plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty the innocent; its the sheen of the silver of smiles, the ripple on the waters of delight, the glint on the gold of gladness; without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dim-ples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for its the glow of a clear conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness, Laughter!

The winter weather, so far, has been remarkably warm all over the country.

BREAKING HER IDOLS.

Light Which Came to Little High-Caste Hindoo Girl.

A pretty story is told of Dr. Anandabai Joshee, the first unconverted high-caste Hindu woman who left her country. She came to America in 1883, and three years later was graduated from the Woman's Medical college of Philadelphia, says the Youth's Companion. Then she returned to her own country, and was elected physician in charge of the female ward of the Albert Edward hospital at Kholapur, but died shortly after her arrival.

Yamuna, as Dr. Joshee was called in her childhood, was the daughter of a wealthy and cultured Hindoo. Her father owned many villages, and for the benefit of servants and peasants, kept a household priest to offer sacrifices, instruct the people, and keep clean the shrines and sacred images.

One day, when Yamuna was very young, she was playing with her dolls near the priest, who was setting in order a shrine. The little girl watched the old man as he washed the little images of jade and set them in their places. Suddenly it flashed across her mind that there was no difference between those images and her dolls. They did not move, neither did they cry out when they were rubbed so hard. She questioned her father about it.

"Father, how can a god bear to have his face washed by a man?" she asked.

"Those images are not gods," he replied. "They are made to hold the thoughts of men to God when they pray. Some represent love, some the justice of God. My little daughter, can you pray to God without looking at any of these images?"

"Yes, indeed!" exclaimed Yamuna. "Then they will be of no use to you. You need never think of them again."

"And I never did," said Anandabai Joshee, in telling the story.

The rewards of faith are not given for the service of fear.

THE SUPPLY OF MINISTERS.

General Failing Off of Conditions in All Denominations.

Rev. G. D. Matthews, D. D., general secretary of the Presbyterian Alliance, has taken pains to collect full statistics bearing upon the question of the supply of ministers, with a look toward the future needs of the church; and he finds that the decline in candidates for the pulpit is not local nor denominational, but universal and nearly uniform. For example, the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, in the last five years is 77, about eight per cent, since 1900. In the United Free Church of Scotland it is 17 per cent. In the Church of England it is 13 per cent. But it should be noted that, as a rule, the drop between 1895 and 1900 was greater than during the years 1900 to 1905. For the last five years the Southern Presbyterian church and the United Presbyterian church have kept the level of 1900, but they lost heavily in the five years preceding—interior.

The cure for our own cares is care for others.

The Power of the Church. A timely illustration of the tremendous and effective power which may be wielded by the churches when they unite is afforded by the closing of the gambling dens at Saratoga, a result brought about by the action of the church federation of Saratoga county, says Leslie's Weekly. Thus a condition which has been a notorious scandal and disgrace to the states for years, which has hitherto successfully defied all efforts at reform and had come to be regarded as practically hopeless has been effectively remedied by the joint action of the churches.

What has been done at Saratoga can be done elsewhere in a similar way. The case is also an excellent example of the practical usefulness of church federation, local, state and national, and a good reason why the federation movement should receive the cordial support of all good citizens.

The only way to lift life is to lay life down.

Monument for Dunbar's Grave. The Rev. Dr. David W. Clark, of Cincinnati, is making an effort to secure sufficient money to erect a monument over the grave of the late negro poet, Paul Laurence Dunbar. Mr. Clark's father was a slaveholder, but he says "the man who wrote 'When Mandy Sings' and 'When the Corn Pone is Hot' deserves a monument."

Wise Council from the South. "I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. B. Blankenship of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. E. McRoberts drug store. Price 50c.

Ouch! "Dearest, you are the only girl I ever loved." "I surprised as much," she replied laughingly. "Your work is exceedingly amateurish."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

PASTURING MEADOWS.

It is a Mistake to Put Cattle on as Soon as the Hay is Cut Off.

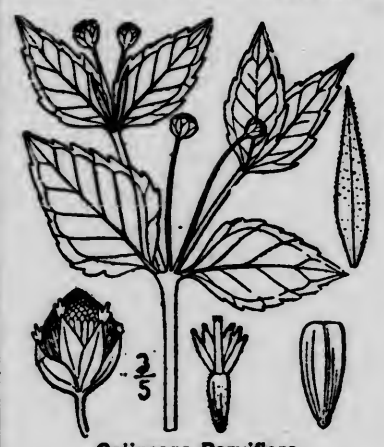

A common practice among farmers of the present day, and more so the eastern farmer, is to pasture the meadows as soon as the hay crop is cut off. It is an old practice and a bad one, says Peterkin Wiley, Jr., in American Agriculturist. It has been practiced for generations, but not to such an extent as at present. To turn stock immediately upon the meadow is a sure ruination of next year's crop of hay and relieves the farmer but little in the long run. In July and August pasture gets short, especially in a dry year and to see the green grass growing is indeed a great temptation. On very rich soil I do not say that it is not proper to pasture, providing that the young shoots are given a chance first to gain size and luxuriant growth.

Every farmer should sow plenty of fodder corn in early spring and summer so it can be fed during the shortage of pasture. In a great many sections, no doubt, farmers have learned from experience the folly of early pasturing of meadows. I believe it perfectly right to allow stock to graze on mowed meadows not earlier than September 1, providing it is not carried to excess. I have observed in a great many instances when winter set in that the ground would be gnawed as smooth as a house floor. This leaves the young plant roots unprotected and the damage done is extensive.

I have a number of neighbors, successful in a way, and readers of American Agriculturist, whose first act after removing the hay is to turn in every head of livestock they have. Experience has shown this is very unprofitable. My method is to allow short intervals at a time. In this way there is sufficient top left to insure winter protection to the roots, some soil rebuilding and a big hay crop the succeeding year.

GALINSOGA.

The plant shown herewith was found growing in cultivated lands, a few specimens in one place, and is known as Galinsoga parviflora Cae., commonly known as Galinsoga and belonging to the sunflower family. About 15 years ago it was introduced into the United States as a weed from tropical South America, and it is now thoroughly established from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It will probably never become abundant enough, says Country Gentleman, to be aggressive. It is also said to have been introduced into Europe as a weed.

BOARD SHIELD FOR POST BASE.

How One Farmer Provided Ingenious Protection From Jack Frost.

We give herewith a sketch of a cement base for posts as used in a barn of a farmer who considers the plan very satisfactory.

The post stands directly upon the cement, but surrounding the cement portion of the base is a covering of boards. Originally these boards were put on to give shape to the concrete.

After the cement had hardened the covering was left as the owner felt that it would serve as a protection to the cement when a wagon was used in the stable. He reports that he has found this to be true.

A hole is dug about a foot deep and the cement foundation built up from this point, explains Prairie Farmer. The portion shown in the illustration is that which appears above the ground. A represents the post, B the cement and C the covering. The latter may be of any material convenient though fairly good lumber is advisable.

Good Tree Protectors. Old barrel staves woven together, top and bottom, with wire or stout twine, make excellent tree protectors to keep off young calves, lambs and sheep—if you must use your orchard for young stock occasionally. Also, says Farm Journal, useful to hold straw covering in place in winter around tender shrubs or rose bushes. The half of one barrel head, with a bracket placed underneath, makes a neat kitchen shelf.

Did You? Did you ever notice how hens will work in a heap of old plaster taken from the walls of a house? What are they after? It is lime. It shows, remarks Farm Journal, that we ought to keep a good supply always before the chicks. They have to have a lot of it to make eggshells of.

Cured of Lung Trouble. "It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes O. O. Ford, a leading business man of Kansas, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at E. E. McRoberts drug store. 50c and 1.00. Trial bottle free.

GIRLS I HAVE KNOWN.

The liveliest girl I ever met was charming Annie Matson; Extending sweetest, was Carry Mel; Helpful, Amelia Eason.

Nicer than Jenny Dooly. It would be hard to find; Lovely was Thelma Hendon, too, One of the flower kind.

I did not fancy Polly Gon. To angular was she; And I could never take at all To Annie Mosby.

I rather liked Miss Sarah Nade. Her voice was full of charm; Hester I could never take at all. She filled me with alarm.

E. Lucy Date was clear of face. Her skin was like a shell; Miss Ella Gant was rather nice, Though she was awful swell.

A clinging girl was Jessie Mine. I asked her me to marry; In vain—now life is full of fights. For I'm joined to Millie Tarry.

Willing to Overlook It. "You!" exclaimed the indignant old gentleman, "you want to marry my daughter? Why, sir, it was only a few years ago that you were caddying for me."

"Yes," the young man replied, "but I don't intend to let that stand in the way. I hope I am philosopher enough to understand that a very bad golfer may make a fairly good father-in-law."

FOLEY'S HONEY

Cures Coughs, Whooping Cough, etc.

HOARSE COUGHS STUFFY COLDS

QUICKLY CURED BY

Foley's Honey and Tar

There is no case on record of a cold resulting in pneumonia, or other serious lung trouble, after Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken.

It will cure the most obstinate racking cough, and heals and strengthens the lungs.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of incipient Consumption and even in the last stages will always give comfort and relief.

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick relief to Asthma sufferers, as it relieves the difficult breathing at once.

Remember the name—Foley's Honey and Tar—and refuse substitutes that cost you the same as the genuine. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation. Contains no opiates.

Cured of Terrible Cough on Lung.

N. Jackson of Danville, Ill., writes: "My daughter had a severe attack of La Grippe and a terrible cough on her lungs. We tried a great many remedies without relief. She tried Foley's Honey and Tar, which cured her. She has never been troubled with a cough since."

Consumption Cured.

Foley & Co., Chicago, Dana, Ind. Gentlemen—Foley's Honey and Tar cured me of Consumption after I had suffered two years and was almost desperate. Three physicians failed to give me any relief and the last one said he could do me no good. I tried almost every medicine I heard tell of without benefit, until Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended to me. Its effect right from the start was magical. I improved steadily from the first dose and am now sound and well, and think Foley's Honey and Tar is a God-send to people with Throat and Lung Trouble. Yours very truly, MRS. MARY AMBROSIO.

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.

The 50 cent size contains two and one-half times as much as the small size and the $1.00 bottle almost six times as much.
